Frequently Asked Questions

1. What is the standard warranty?

Vitamix standard commercial warranties cover your motor base for three full years and your container for one, regardless of how many cycles you rack up. So while the initial investment may be higher, Vitamix often costs less than its competition over the life of the machine.

2. What if the unit shuts off while blending?

The motor is designed with thermal overload protection, which senses when the motor has overheated and automatically stops the motor. Depending on how hot the unit became, it may take an hour or more to cool down. Once the unit has cooled, the thermal overload protection device will close and allow the unit to operate again.

3. Do I need to replace my drive socket?

The drive socket is a wear item and requires periodic replacement based on use. Vitamix recommends inspecting drive sockets and centering pads weekly using the Blender Care & Maintenance Guide. Check for nicks, cracks, or gouges in the outer surface. If any are present, replace. Inspect the inner gear teeth of the drive socket. If worn, replace.

4. Can I use Vitamix Commercial machines in my home?

These machines are intended for use in commercial kitchens. They do not come with recipe books and carry the commercial warranty.

Frequently Asked Questions

5. What causes a blade assembly to wear?

The following things cause premature wear of the blade assembly:

- Foreign objects in the container while blending
- Removing or placing container on machine while drive socket is spinning
- Operating the machine without the centering pad in place
- Rocking or tilting the container while blending
- A worn drive socket
- Soaking in bleach sanitizer solution above 100 ppm
- Placing in a dishwasher
- Using parts or products not approved by Vitamix
- Blending gritty products like sand

6. When should the blade assembly be replaced?

In short, the blade assembly should be replaced if it:

- “Pinwheels” or rotates freely and effortlessly like a pinwheel in the wind
- Does not spin or is difficult to spin by hand
- Makes an audible noise when spinning
- Has vertical movement
- Has side-to-side movement
- Ball bearings are visible where the seal should normally be located
